

MIDTERM DEFICIENCY FLAG
Sample Email to Student

Instructors send out midterm notifications from {start date} – {end date}.

{Instructor name}, your instructor in {course}, reports that you are currently receiving a deficient grade in this course. The consequences of failing a course can range from negative impacts on your financial aid and/or course of study to academic consequences such as probation and suspension.

Your instructor's comments are: Rachel missed 3 classes this month.

Take control over your situation immediately by using the following resources to help you reach your academic goals and avoid the potential negative consequences of failing a course:

1. Connect with your instructor to determine what options you have to raise your grade.
2. Meet with your academic advisor about how failing or dropping a course will affect your program of study. You can schedule an appointment with your advisor by using Starfish. You will find your advisor's name in My Success Network.
3. Contact One Stop Student Services to discuss how failing or dropping a course may impact your financial aid.
4. Make an appointment with Learning Services for academic coaching to review college learning strategies such as time management and effective study techniques.
5. Schedule an appointment for tutoring (walk-ins are also available).

Important dates and deadlines, including the last day to withdraw from a full-term course, can be found here.

If you have any questions regarding why you are receiving this notification, please contact your instructor.
