General Information – What You Need to Know

Introduction
The North Dakota University System has contracted with JP Morgan Chase to offer an efficient, cost-effective method of purchasing and paying for goods and services within established procurement guidelines. Cards are available to faculty and staff with approval from the appropriate authorized departmental supervisor. The card is a privilege granted by the University and responsible use of the card is expected. Cardholders must follow all University policies and procedures when using the card as a procurement/payment mechanism.

The Purchasing Card is NOT intended to avoid or circumvent the appropriate procurement or payment procedures, or to be used for personal use.

The Purchasing Card is a University liability MasterCard, issued through and supported by JP Morgan Chase Bank. It is not a personal liability card.

Card types, default funding, and card limits
Card Types:
All purchasing cards are issued in the name of an individual. The individual must be a university employee, students including graduate students or student organizations are not allowed to obtain a purchasing card. P-cards are not issued to departments, but to individuals.
General Purchasing Cards - General Purchasing cards allow charges for general merchants such as Walmart, Lowes, airfare and other travel charges. This card will exclude charges for food/meals. This type of card is issued in the name of the employee.

The cards are issued in the name of the employee accompanying the students while traveling. Groups using these cards may include athletic teams, music groups, programs/trips sponsored by the International Programs, and other student groups traveling for university sponsored activities/business.

Default funding source:
Default funding source (fund and department) is assigned to each purchasing card at the time of issuance. All charges will be posted to this fund and department.
